2014-2015 series of concerts in Appleby Public Hall

Sunday, 5th October 2014 - 7.30pm
The London Klezmer Quartet (£12.00)

The London Klezmer Quartet will take you on a Jewish musical odyssey from Eastern Europe to Australia via the Balkans, Thailand, Turkey, the US and London. Klezmer is the traditional celebratory and soulful music of Jewish Eastern Europe that kept Yiddish wedding parties on their feet for days! Ilana Cravitz (fiddle), Susi Evans (clarinet), Frances O'Rourke (accordion) and Rupert Gillett (double bass) bring you the whirling, irresistible energy of klezmer. You will want to laugh, to cry, and most of all... to dance!

Sunday, 16th November 2014 - 7.30pm
Richard Durrant with Howard Beach (£12.00)

Richard Durrant's guitar playing is richly romantic, truly virtuosic and crosses all musical boundaries. By the time he entered the Royal College of Music (at the age of 18) he was an experienced performer. In addition to his extensive UK touring and occasional forays into Europe, he visited Paraguay for the first time in 2011, when he launched the first album in his Paraguayan trilogy: The Number 26 Bus to Paraguay. Richard is joined by keyboard virtuoso Howard Beach (an original member of 'Red Priest').

The Maxwell String Quartet (£12.00)

Hailed as "one of the front-runners" in young UK ensembles (Classical Music Magazine, 2013), the Maxwell Quartet are rapidly emerging as a dynamic and exciting force in the chamber music world. Colin Scobie and George Smith (violins), Asher Zaccardelli (viola) and Duncan Strachan (cello) met and formed the quartet while studying as postgraduates at the Royal Conservatoire of Scotland in 2010. In addition to a busy concert diary, they have featured in broadcasts for BBC Radio Scotland, as well as regularly giving schools workshops and concerts for children.

Sunday, 1st March 2015 – 3.00 pm
Afternoon concert by students of the Junior Royal Northern College of Music (JRNCM) (£12.00)

In the past, we have enjoyed performances by young musicians from the Wells Cathedral School and Chetham's in Manchester and now it is the turn of the JRNCM, whose 200 students attend on Saturdays, travelling great distances for the opportunity to receive tutoring from around 100 RNCM staff. Many JRNCM alumni have gone on to win the top prizes and positions in the music world and after this concert, you will understand why.
